

Alex Davis

Founder & CEO
Disruptive

Alex Davis is the Founder and CEO of Disruptive, a global investment firm focused on backing category-leading private technology companies. Headquartered in Dallas, Texas, the firm invests through primary, secondary and structured transactions, partnering closely with founders and management teams through critical stages of growth, scale, and liquidity.

Alex is currently the Chairman of Groq, a leading global AI infrastructure platform. Groq deploys and operates high-performance AI compute across North America, Europe, the Middle East and Asia Pacific, combining infrastructure, inference and cloud services into a single globally distributed platform.

Prior to founding Disruptive, he served as the Founding Managing Director of Ten-X, LLC (formerly Auction.com), where he led the company in its transition from a traditional auction company into a technology-enabled marketplace.

Alex and his wife, Lindsay, co-chair The Davis Family Giving Fund, which is dedicated to helping those less fortunate.

