JC Raby

Managing Director, Head of Emerging Technology
J.P. Morgan

JC Raby joined J.P. Morgan in 2022 as Managing Director and Head of Emerging Technology, focused on working with fast growing, venture or growth-equity backed technology companies to meet their capital/merger advisory needs, while expanding J.P. Morgan's business across the Middle Market. JC brings nearly three decades of both investment banking/M&A advisory and corporate executive experience to the role. JC's clients include leading Fortune 500 acquirers, middle-market growth companies and rapidly-growing technology stars across a number of industries including cybersecurity, enterprise software, infrastructure software, media and technology (software, IT/business services, and communications equipment) and e-commerce, together accounting for billions in transaction value. JC is a frequently interviewed voice of cybersecurity and AI trends and market direction.

Prior to joining J.P. Morgan, JC was the founding Partner at Boston Meridian, a boutique Technology focused M&A Advisory firm in which he also ran the Firm's west coast office. Prior to founding Boston Meridian, JC was a senior executive for Thomas Weisel Partners (now Stifel Financial) in which JC ran the Boston investment banking effort. Prior to joining Thomas Weisel Partners, JC was a Vice President at Montgomery Securities (now Bank of America Securities) where he was responsible for the execution of merger and acquisition transactions; and began his career in the corporate finance group at PaineWebber Inc. (now UBS Securities) JC also ran Corporate Strategy at Akamai Technologies (NASDAQ: AKAM), a global provider of content-delivery services the World Wide Web, where he worked directly with the Senior executive team to help develop and manage the Company's corporate finance offerings and drive increased institutional ownership.

JC holds a BA in International Relations and Latin American Commerce from Brown University where he was an All-Ivy, Division 1 National Champion rower.
