Will Edwards

Co-Founder & CEO
Firehawk

Will Edwards is the co-founder and Chief Executive Officer of Firehawk, a defense technology leader specializing in advanced energetics and propulsion. Founded in 2019, Firehawk's mission is to make American strength inexhaustible. As the propulsion company built for the age of volume, Firehawk engineers past the material and manufacturing limits of legacy propulsion and scales that advantage from propellant to motors to complete rounds.

Under Edwards' leadership, Firehawk operates an end-to-end artillery and rocket motor production and integration platform, with headquarters in Dallas, a 320-acre energetics production site in Lawton, Oklahoma, and a 636-acre DCMA-rated integration facility in Mississippi.
