

Reed Jobs

Founder and Managing Partner
Yosemite

Reed and his team launched Yosemite in August 2023 with the mission to make cancer nonlethal in our lifetime. Yosemite works in late-stage academic research and for-profit company creation to invest in the most promising science globally in pursuit of this mission. Prior to starting Yosemite, Reed served as the Managing Director of Health at Emerson Collective for eight years. He holds a B.A. in History and International Security and an M.A. in History, both from Stanford University.
