

Chris Camillo

Investor and Co-Host
Dumb Money Live

Chris Camillo, co-host of YouTube's DumbMoney Live, is an investor renowned for turning a modest $20,000 brokerage account into $60 million in returns—without relying on traditional investment strategies.

His 70% annualized return on equity (ROE) over a 16-year span (2007–2023) was chronicled in Unknown Market Wizards by Jack Schwager, where he was featured as one of the world's top-performing traders.

Chris pioneered Social Arbitrage, an investment analysis method that leverages social data to early detect and capitalize on shifts in culture, consumer behavior, and technology. He is widely recognized as a leading authority on humanoid robotics within the investment sector.
